

Social and Personal

In the presence of a brilliant and fashionable audience of distinguished guests from all parts of the country, with the church barked in pinks, lilacs and pale pink sweet-peas, Miss Page Aylett Royall became the bride of Barker Gummere Hamill, of Trenton, N. J., last evening at 8:30 o'clock in St. Paul's church, which the altar and the chancel was a bower of pink blossoms. The Rev. Robert W. Forsyth, rector of St. Paul's, officiated, and Professor Rheinhardt played the wedding marches and, "Thou Shalt Have Evening Star" during the ceremony.

Miss Anne Kell Royall and Miss Caroline Gordon Kennolds were the bridesmaids of honor. Their frocks were wonderful creations of pale green chiffon, made with train, with quaint brocade satin coats cut V-neck and caught with tiny rhinestone buckles. They wore pink bonnets made of cream-colored lace and trimmed with lavender flowers and carried shower bouquets of lavender sweet-peas.

The dame of honor, Mrs. William Hubert, of Cincinnati, and the bridesmaids, Misses Elsie Lindsey, Ella Williams Buek, Julia Joyner, Gwendolyn Hetherford and Elsie Bagwell, of St. Louis, Mo., wore frocks modeled like the maids of honor of pink chiffon, with brocade coats and bonnets trimmed in pink flowers. They carried nosegays of pink sweet-peas. The little ribbon girls, Misses Helen and Nicketti Johnson, and the flower girl, little Miss Margaret Simonds, of Trenton, wore dainty lingerie frocks of white mull, hand-embroidered, with wide pink sashes, and carried French baskets of pink and white sweet-peas. (Hugh Hamill, of Trenton, was the brother's best man, and the groomsmen included: John C. Gilpin, of Philadelphia; William E. Green, of Trenton, N. J.; Bruce Bedford, of W. F. Saylor, Jr., Adjutant-General of the State of New York; John S. Broughton, of Trenton; Edward Ford Johnson, of Chicago; A. Todd McClintock, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., and Carroll Baldwin, of New York.

The ushers were: Alexander Randolph Holladay, George M. Reid, William R. Turner, Stuart Gratton Christian, William Dewey Cooke, John B. Parrish, John A. Cutchins, William Lawton, Hiram Smith, all of Richmond, and Bartlett Stryker, of Philadelphia, and Nelson L. Petty, of Trenton, N. J.

The bride, who entered the church with her father, wore an exquisite gown of heavy white satin, made with a court train and draped with an overskirt of rose point and tulle lace, imported for her mother, the beautiful Miss Page Aylett, to wear at her wedding. The bodice was cut V-neck and trimmed with rare old lace and chiffon. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet-peas and lilacs of the valley and her long veil of real lace, also worn by her mother.

was arranged back from her face, after the custom of foreign princesses, and was held with a wreath of orange blossoms. Sprays of the same flowers were used in draping the lace of the bride's gown, and her only ornament was a diamond pendant.

At the reception following at the home of the bride's parents, 812 Park Avenue, the entire house was massed in fragrant pink sweet peas and pink lilacs. Out along the porch a bamboo addition had been built and this, with the whole garden, had been converted into a veritable bower of beautiful flowers and Japanese lanterns, and trailing vines and myriads of pink flowers were used everywhere. An orchestra, concealed by an effective arrangement of bay trees and palms, played during the reception hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamill left at once for New York, from which place they will sail on Saturday to spend several months traveling in Europe.

Returned From Abroad. Miss Eleanor Higgins, who has been traveling abroad for more than a year and for the past two months has been quite ill in Milan, Italy, has returned to Richmond, and is slightly improved. Miss Higgins, who is a native of New York, and Miss Kathleen Caughy, who has also spent the past winter in Italy. Miss Theresa Higgins and a party of friends went on to New York a few weeks ago to meet Miss Caughy and her aunt, Miss Higgins, and were very pleasantly entertained at several dinners while in that city. Miss Caughy has been a recent visitor in Baltimore, where she was the guest of honor at a number of charming affairs.

Mrs. Joseph A. Higgins and daughter, Miss Alma Higgins, of Atlanta, Ga., are the guests of the Misses Higgins, at 219 Governor Street, for some time.

Mrs. Virginia Machen, of Mobjack, Va., was the guest of honor at a beautiful bridge party given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Victor Shelburne, at her home in Glinter Park. At the conclusion of the game, Mrs. Machen was presented by her hostess with a beautiful nosegay of lavender sweet peas. Mrs. Machen is visiting Mrs. Silas Shelburne at 216 Shafter Street.

Miss Lemmon's Wedding. An important wedding Wednesday night in Baltimore was that of Miss Dulany Lemmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Southgate Lemmon, and Dr. G. Howard White, Jr., of Catonsville, Md., at the home of the bride's parents, 211 West Lantana Street. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock, the Rev. William M. Dame, rector of Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church, officiating. Miss Lemmon, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful gown of white satin and rose point lace. Her tulle veil was caught with sprays of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of lilacs of the valley.

Miss Grace Lemmon, the bride's sister, was her only attendant. Her gown was of pink flowered mull, and she carried a large bunch of Killarney roses.

Wilson White was his brother's best man, and there were no ushers. Palms and pink peonies were the decorations for the drawing-room.

Owing to the recent death of Mr. Lemmon's brother-in-law, Robert Neville, the invitations were for the two immediate families only. The out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. Hunter Dulany, of Grafton Hall, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred McIlhenny, of Virginia; Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Cary Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Zoller Dulany, of Washington, D. STRIKE DECLARED BY SLATE MAKERS

Entire Arvonian Field Tied Up. Efforts at Settlement Fail.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Arvonian, Va., June 2.—The entire Arvonian slate field, from Ferncliffe to Penlan, is tied up in a strike, which according to conservative estimates, may last for many months. The members of the local Slate Makers' Union, a strong organization, left off work Wednesday afternoon, stating in a letter to the slate operators that they would not return to work until an agreement, which they had formerly offered, was signed by both sides. This the operators refused to do, and the strike was declared. The strike now does not include the common or pit laborers, most of whom are colored people, and a few of the quarries are engaged in the work of moving top and rubbish and preparing the quarry pits for future work in making slate. But just when this work will be resumed, none seems to be in a position to say.

The present situation did not develop suddenly, nor is it altogether a surprise to the people of this section, as the question between the Slate Makers' Union and the operators of this field has been a live one for the past six weeks or more. Recent meetings were held on both sides, and several times committees from each body met, but nothing definite was accomplished or settled upon.

Arvonian is built upon the slate industry, and the present strike bids fair to demoralize all business here until a settlement is reached. It is not known here how long the operators will continue to work the common laborers in the quarry pits, nor is it known whether or not an effort will be made to get men to split the slate.

The Buckingham slate field is the most important south of the Mason and Dixon line, and the quality of the slate is unsurpassed anywhere in the world. A large number of native Welsh people and their descendants live here, and are the expert slate makers. The Welsh are employed for their skill in this particular work, as the Welsh slate fields are extensive, and the Welsh people are generally reckoned the most expert slate makers in the world.

Many of the slate makers will leave here within the next few days or weeks for Bangor and Slatington, in Pennsylvania; Peach Bottom, in Maryland; and other slate-producing sections.

Colored Man Honored. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Virginia Hot Springs, June 2.—J. N. Smith, for many years head waiter at the Homestead Hotel, was presented with a handsome silver loving cup last Friday evening by A. C. Burrell, of Scottsville, representing the faithful squad of waiters who subscribed for the cup.

"Smith," as he is known to hundreds of prominent people who have come here year after year, is one of the most prominent men of his race in the State, and is well known for his benefactions, and work in behalf of his people. John D. Rockefeller and many others have not only shown a substantial interest in his work by giving him donations for the church which "Smith" has founded and helps to maintain here, but here, too, have frequently paid him the compliment of attending divine services in the Smith Chapel. Mrs. Walker Fearn, widow of the former minister to Greece and Roumania, and a personal representative of Queen Elizabeth in the work for the blind in this country, has found an able ally in him in her work for the colored blind and Mrs. Fearn has lectured in the Smith Chapel and with "Smith" has headed a subscription list for the colored blind of the State. The cup is lined with gold, and is inscribed with the names of the donors.

Husband's Praise

"My wife," writes D. W. Bates, of Caldwell, O., "thinks that CARDUI is wonderful and that she owes her life to it. She has suffered for some time with female complaint, and would be troubled for weeks. After taking a few bottles of CARDUI she was relieved and now can do housework right along without suffering any pain. CARDUI did so much for my wife, we think it is the greatest medicine on earth for women."

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Every woman knows the symptoms of female trouble, how the whole system is affected—the suffering and misery of it. To obtain relief we urge you to take CARDUI, the specific, tonic medicine for such ills. For more than half a century, CARDUI has been successfully relieving suffering women—why not you?

CARDUI is purely vegetable and non-intoxicating. It acts gently but surely on the delicate female constitution relieving pain and restoring health. Cardui is easy to take and has no bad after-effects. Try it today. It will help you. For sale at all druggists.
